A Twist for the King's English—Florida Style

A newspaperman keeps a critical eye on how commercial writers handle the King's English. For instance—Last month while your editor was winding up a medical stay in Sarasota, Fla., my brother Charles and I took breakfast at the Dutch Pantry, a national restaurant chain whose home office is in Selinsgrove, Pa. (pop. 3,948), just a few miles down the Susquehanna River from our old home town, Wilkes-Barre. But any imaginary proprietary interest I might have felt for geographical reasons was destroyed when I inspected the menu. The listing that disturbed me was this one:

"Thick half-quart milk shake—55c."

Thus did some inventive commercial writer display his corruption of the King's English. He couldn't use an honest phrase like "a full pint"—no, it had to be "a half quart."

I am aware, of course, that every section takes its own particular liberties with language.

When I came South 40 years ago (El Dorado, 1923) one of the first language switches I encountered was this, for a demitasse:

"Give me a cup of java—loose full."

At that, I think Arkansas scored over the twist that Pennsylvanians gave their breakfast menu in Florida—but it was a good breakfast at that, twist or no twist.

Customers Terrorized by Gunmen

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Eight men posing as customers held up a South Philadelphia furniture store and terrorized employees and customers Monday, killing one man, wounding two others and attempting to set the store on fire.

Ten persons, most of them employees of the Durbow Furniture Co., were injured from being kicked or pistol-whipped while lying on the floor, bound hand and foot.

Police and witnesses said the gang entered the store in pairs about 3 p.m. After talking with salespeople they drew hand guns and herded about 25 customers and employees into various parts of the large store.

After binding their captives, gang members emptied cash registers and took money from employees and customers. They sprayed gasoline from a five-gallon can onto furniture and around the bound captives and set it ablaze, but the fires caused no substantial damage.

Police said the store would have to audit its accounts before an estimate could be made of how much money was taken.

Council Head Wants Support

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Little Rock Jr., executive director of the Governor's Youth Council, said Monday he hoped Gov. Dale Bumpers would support the council and serve as its honorary head.

He said, however, that Bumpers had not agreed yet to endorse the council.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller created the council by executive order in 1967 to give youth a voice in state government.

Fire Destroys Fordyce Motel

FORDYCE, Ark. (AP) — Fire destroyed all 17 units of the Boco Courts here early Monday morning, authorities said.

Kenneth Kilgore, the owner, said he could not estimate the damage immediately.

The blaze was believed to have started in the attic of one of the units. No one was injured.

Four Charged With Murder in Montreal

MONTREAL (AP) — Murder charges were to be filed today against four young Quebec separatists found criminally responsible for the kidnap-killing of provincial Labor Minister Pierre Laporte.

Special Prosecutor Jacques Durosoir said Paul Rose, 27; his brother Jacques, 23; Francis Simard, 23, and Bernard Lortie, 19, would be arraigned on murder charges this afternoon.

Judge Jacques Trahan ruled at a coroner's inquest Monday that the four were responsible for the death of Laporte, who was abducted by the Front de Liberation du Quebec—the FLQ—on Oct. 10 and strangled a week later.

Paul Rose, a teacher, was arrested Dec. 28 with his brother and Simard, both unemployed laborers, in a tunnel under a farmhouse at St. Duc, 20 miles southeast of Montreal. Lortie, a student, was arrested in a Montreal apartment Nov. 6, but the police raiders overlooked the other three hiding behind a false wall in a closet.

Simard and the Rose brothers appeared at the inquest but refused to testify. Lortie did not appear. None of the four was present when the verdict was read.

During the hearing, two police officers read a statement they said Simard had made but had refused to sign. The statement gave this account:

Laporte, bleeding from deep lacerations he suffered Oct. 16 in a dive through a window in an attempt to escape, "was crying" and "wanted us to take him to a hospital." The next day "all three of us—Paul Rose, Jacques Rose and I—strangled Laporte with the chain he was wearing," a chain around his neck that held his religious medal.

Would Abolish Safety Office

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Rep. John Bethell of Des Arc sought Monday to obtain a Legislative Council recommendation that the General Assembly abolish the office of coordinator of public safety.

The council, however, ignored Bethell's motion and adopted a budget for the agency of $1,585,000 for each of the next two years.

Most of the money would be federal funds. Y. W. Welchell of Little Rock is head of the agency.

Bethell said the agency was one of several the state did not need.

Yelling Boss Not as Likely to Fire You as When He's Quiet

Good fishermen are also usually good gardeners. If they can hook a big fish, they can grow a big tomato.

When a boss calls you on the carpet for a shortcoming, he is less likely to fire you if he glares and shouts at you than if he looks out the window and speaks in a quiet voice.

Freight Rates Increased

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Commerce Commission has granted a 6 per cent increase in interstate freight rates in Arkansas.

The increase was the second allowed by the commission in the past three months. A 3 per cent increase in rates for hauling many commodities had been granted Oct. 31.

Railroads estimated the latest increase would produce more than $700,000 a year in additional income.

Middle East Peace Talks Resumed

By MAX HARRELSON
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Despite gloomy forecasts by many diplomats, U.N. special envoy Gunnar Jarring today resumes his efforts to bring the Arabs and the Israelis to a peace agreement.

Israeli Ambassador Yosef Tekoah was scheduled to meet with Jarring, ending the Israeli boycott which last September stopped the indirect negotiations with Egypt and Jordan before they really got started.

Tekoah arrived in New York Monday with new instructions from the Israeli government. He said his first meeting with Jarring would be confined to procedural matters, and he did not know when they would get down to substantive issues.

Egyptian Ambassador Mohammed H. El-Zayyat also returned to New York after consultations with his government. He was expected to see Jarring today or Wednesday.

Some of the pessimism among diplomatic observers was due to recent hard-line speeches made by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat. Almost all agreed that progress could only be achieved through long, hard negotiations.

U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers, whose initiative brought Israel and the Arabs to Jarring's negotiating table in August, paid a visit to U.N. headquarters Monday for consultations with Secretary-General U Thant and Jarring.

Rogers said the United States "will do our part behind the scenes" to assist the negotiations, but that the responsibility is now with Jarring "where it properly belongs."

He agreed that the representatives of the Big Four powers should continue their private meeting on the Middle East. But he said the emphasis should be on the parties themselves "and they should be encouraged to negotiate."

Fading U.S. Role in War Seen by Nixon as Great Accomplishment

Nixon Hopes to Reduce Unemployment

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, promising an expansionary economic policy to reduce unemployment to 4 per cent by 1972, says he has decided against seeking any tax increase this year.

Nixon admitted there will be a deficit in his fiscal 1972 budget, now being drafted. Some officials have forecast a record $230 billion spending total. But it will not be an inflationary deficit, Nixon promised, and he will not ask wage-price ceilings or voluntary guidelines.

The President gave a preview of both his State of the Union and budget messages in a Monday night interview with four network correspondents carried live on radio and television.

The major thrust of his State of the Union message on Jan. 22, he said, will be "how we can give the people of this country an opportunity to make decisions of what the government should be and what it does."

One of the approaches, Nixon said, will be a federal revenue-sharing plan for the financially distressed states and cities that will go "far beyond proposals so far."

Another will be a new call to Congress to enact his proposed overhaul of the welfare system, providing a minimum income to all impoverished Americans. Both plans must start anew in the 92nd Congress; the welfare bill was stalled in the adjournment rush of the 91st Congress, and revenue sharing never got started.

The big push for revenue sharing and welfare reform will be top-priority responsibilities of the new secretary of the Treasury, former Gov. John Connally of Texas, Nixon disclosed.

Nixon denied speculation he might ask Congress this year to initiate the value-added tax—a form of industry-wide sales tax, levied at each stage of manufacture—to meet the costs of revenue sharing. He did indicate such a tax might be sought later.

In reply to questioning that suggested the economy was slack because of public concern over spreading unemployment, fear of inflation and lack of confidence, Nixon asserted his belief that confidence is being restored.

"We are beginning to make real progress in fighting inflation," he said, noting that wholesale prices are now rising only half as rapidly as a year ago. Retail price increases also are abating, he said.

Unemployment will begin to recede in 1971, the President predicted. The full employment goal, he said, is to reduce joblessness—now at 5.8 per cent—to 4 per cent by 1972. But he said he could not predict any precise percentage.

No Commitment to Utilities

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers said Monday that he had made no commitment to the utility industry about the kind of men he would appoint to the state Public Service Commission or the way the regulatory agency would be operated.

He made the remark in response to published accounts of a statement made by Donald S. Kennedy of Oklahoma City, Okla., who is chairman of the board of the Oklahoma Gas and Electric Co.

Kennedy was quoted as saying that Bumpers was going to appoint "a couple of fair commissioners to utility agencies, instead of crusaders appointed by Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller."

Fighting at Five Points in Cambodia

SAIGON (AP) — Military spokesmen today reported fighting at five points in eastern and northwestern Cambodia and the loss of a U.S. jet fighter-bomber over southern Laos while it was bombing enemy supply routes.

The two crewmen aboard the Air Force F4 Phantom are missing, a spokesman said. The plane went down Sunday night.

Only one significant action was reported in South Vietnam, the ambush of a U.S. Convoy on Highway 20 in the southern part of the central highlands. One American was killed, one was wounded, and one of the enemy was killed, the U.S. Command said.

In eastern Cambodia, South Vietnamese troops backed by tanks, bombers and artillery clashed Monday with North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces at four points ranging from Highway 7 about 50 miles northeast of Phnom Penh to the banks of the Bassac and Mekong rivers 50 miles southeast of the Cambodian capital.

South Vietnamese headquarters claimed 37 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were killed in the four fights although only three weapons were reported captured. South Vietnamese losses were two killed and 17 wounded, a communique said.

In discussing disappointments of the past two years, Nixon placed high on his list the fatal shootings last spring of students at Kent State University and Jackson State College, and the summertime bombing of a University of Wisconsin building in which one person died. He said:

"We have seen the amount of violence going down some, but during this administration to have had three such tragedies as that left a very deep impression on me. I trust, as we continue to have success in foreign policy, as we continue to solve the problems that people are interested in, that this kind of violence will begin to recede even more."

Sitting in a straight-backed wooden chair before the fireplace in the White House library, Nixon fielded more than two dozen questions from the four broadcasters—Howard K. Smith of ABC, Eric Sevareid of CBS, John Chancellor of NBC and Nancy Dickerson of Public Broadcasting Service.

Among other things, Nixon said:

—Economically, "1971, in essence, will be a good year, and 1972 will be a very good year."

Proclaiming a return to full employment by the end of 1972 as his aim, Nixon predicted a revival of prosperity without resort to controls or wage-price guidelines and—in 1971, at least without increased federal taxes.

He indicated acceptance of a 4 per cent jobless rate as essentially full employment.

—The new year will see him pushing hard for congressional passage of welfare reform, a vastly-expanded proposal to share federal revenues with states and communities, and a major health care package.

If Congress acts, he said, the result will be "the most significant reform that we have had perhaps in a century."

Murder Trial Resumed at Paragould

PARAGOUL, Ark. (AP) — The first-degree murder trial of Clyde Ray Glover, 37, of Paragould, which was recessed last Thursday, resumed today in Circuit Court here.

Glover is charged in the death of Miss Judy Evans, 20, of Rector. The woman's body was found March 1, 1969 in a burning car in a gravel pit.

The trial was recessed Thursday after Glover's wife and his brother testified that they thought Glover was insane.

Dr. A. F. Rosendale, a staff psychiatrist of the State Hospital in Little Rock, testified, however, that doctors who examined Glover were of the opinion that he was competent at the time of the alleged crime.

Strike Closes Pittsburgh Schools

By BYRON BEARD
Associated Press Writer

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Labor trouble that has closed city schools and blacked out both newspapers spread to city government today, curtailing garbage service, street maintenance, and garage work on police cruisers.

About 2,000 of the city's 3,000 nonuniformed employees reported out sick in what was described as a protest over the mayor's attempts to change work assignments.

The walkout was sparked Monday by the docking of five plumbers who refused to follow an order to drive trucks. The mayor previously had laid off several Teamsters Union drivers.

School doors were locked to some 73,000 students Monday as 1,000 members of the Pittsburgh Federation of Teachers made good a threat to boycott their classrooms if there was no agreement with the school board on a new contract.

Talks between the teachers and the board which have been going on since last April were recessed Monday afternoon with school superintendent Dr. Louis Kishkonas saying: "We're at an impasse."

Some Snow in S. Arkansas Possibility

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow, or snow mixed with freezing rain, may hit the southern portion of Arkansas Wednesday.

Any accumulation, however, would be light.

A high-level storm center moving eastward from the western portion of the country is expected to produce the precipitation. The frontal wave is also expected to cause increased cloudiness over the state.

Arkansas was in the grips of frigid arctic air this morning and temperatures plunged to less than 10 degrees over north-central and northwest portions of the state. The remainder of the state experienced readings in the teens and low 20s.

The National Weather Service said an icy north wind of 6 to 15 miles an hour produced equivalent temperatures of less than zero in many areas.

Little temperature change was expected today with highs forecast in the 20s north to 30s south. Lows tonight should be 5 to 10 north to low 20s south portions.

Justice Dept. Enters Watson Chapel Case

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — The Justice Department said Monday that a proposed division of the Watson Chapel School District would "circumvent and frustrate" a court order to implement a desegregation plan for the district.

The voters of the district were scheduled to vote Dec. 15 on dividing the district but the election was blocked by a temporary restraining order issued by U.S. District Judge Oren Harris.

Four Negro residents sought the order, contending the division was intended to frustrate desegregation. Harris will hold a hearing next Monday on whether to issue a permanent injunction barring the election.

The Justice Department said the result of the proposed division would be two new school districts — one 96 per cent black and the other 94 per cent white. The department alleged the division would violate the rights of black students under the 14th Amendment to the Constitution.

Embezzlement Case Before High Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court will hear oral arguments next Monday on a request to withhold a mandate that would require John H. Pointer Jr. of Pine Bluff to begin serving a five-year prison term.

Pointer, a former city collector at Pine Bluff, was convicted in Circuit Court of embezzling more than $32,000. The state Supreme Court upheld the conviction, but Pointer has been free on bond while the case went to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The federal court refused Dec. 14 to hear the case and the state court was about to issue a mandate directing Pointer to begin serving his sentence.

Kenneth C. Coffelt of Little Rock, Pointer's attorney, filed a motion that said Pointer was deprived of a fair and impartial trial by an impartial jury. Pointer also contended that unfavorable publicity prevented him from getting a fair trial at Pine Bluff.

100,000 Flood Victims in Malaya

KUALA LUMPUR (AP) — The sun shone on the Malay Peninsula today for the first time in almost a week as Prime Minister Tun Abdul Razak declared a state of national disaster and began relief measures for 100,000 victims of the worst floods in Malaysia's history.

That many persons have been driven from their homes, including all 38,690 residents of seven towns in Pahang state. Water was 12 feet deep in parts of Kuala Lumpur, much of which was inundated. Tanjong Malim, 35 miles north of the capital, was reported under six feet of water.

The number of verified dead in eight states was 26. But scores of persons were reported missing, and officials feared the toll would go much higher.

Razak called an emergency Cabinet meeting, then mobilized civilian, military and police relief teams. A campaign was started to obtain food, clothing and money.

Production of rubber and tin, Malaysia's most important exports, was halted in Pahang, Selangor and Kelantan states.

Firms Seek to Block Arkla Hearing

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Two companies that buy natural gas from Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. under long-term industrial contracts filed a petition Monday in Pulaski Circuit Court seeking to block a hearing Wednesday by the state Public Service Commission on Arkla's industrial contracts.

Judge Tom F. Digby scheduled a hearing on the petition for 4 p.m. today.

The two companies are Baroid Division of the National Lead Co. and Dresser Industries, Inc.

Four other companies with plants in Arkansas said Monday that any attempt by the PSC to set aside their contracts for natural gas with Arkla would be unlawful.

On Dec. 11, after turning down a proposed curtailment policy for Arkla's industrial customers, the commission ordered Arkla and its industrial customers to show cause why the contracts should not be set aside.

The four companies were Continental Oil Co., which has an ammonia plant at Blytheville; Monsanto, which has a chemical plant and refinery in El Dorado; and two Chicago firms, MacMillan Ring-Free Oil Co. Inc. and Cross Oil Co., which have facilities near Smackover.

Many of Arkla's industrial contracts were arranged for 20-year periods before the current shortage of natural gas that Arkla has cited. The result has been that companies are buying natural gas at less than it costs Arkla and the contracts are tying up a majority of Arkla's reserves.

Arkla came to the defense Monday of the commission's show-cause order, arguing that it must find additional funds to begin developing new sources of natural gas. Arkla said if the contracts with industrial users were not set aside, residential and commercial customers would pay higher and unfair rates for natural gas.

$4 Million Spent in Campaigns

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Roughly $4 million in campaign expenditures has been reported by Arkansas candidates in the 1970 elections for state and district offices.

The figure includes general election expenditures by candidates from both parties and primary election expenditures reported by Democrats.

The Republican party has not revealed the primary election expenditure reports of its candidates.

By far the largest total expenditure by a single candidate was the $1.3 million reported by Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller in his unsuccessful race for reelection. He is a Republican. His primary election spending has not been revealed.

According to records in the secretary of state's office, seven general election candidates failed to file reports on their campaign expenditures in the general election.

On the Senate side, Carl E. Sorrels was listed as having failed to report general election expenses in his District 8 race. He is a Democrat.

The other six, all candidates for the House, were:

—Rudy Moore Jr., Democrat, District 7, Position 3.

—Paul Shaver, Democrat, District 12, Position 3.

—Farris E. Howard, Republican, District 13, Position 1.

—E. L. Luttrell, American party, District 32, Position 2.

—Jimmie Don McKissack, Democrat, District 37, Position 2.

—Sam Serio Jr., American party, District 40, Position 1.

Bumpers Backs North-South Turnpike

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — Gov.-elect Dale Bumpers said Monday that the proposed north-south turnpike through the Ozarks region is essential to industrial growth of the area. He pledged his "fullest cooperation" in obtaining the road.

Bumpers told about 400 persons at an Ozarka luncheon here that it was his opinion that until there is an adequate transportation artery between the Midwest and the Southwest, industrial growth in the Ozarks region cannot reach its full potential.

Members of Ozarka and civic leaders who support the four-state Ozarks Regional Commission met Monday for a day-long discussion centered primarily on the proposed road.

Bumpers said he hoped the road would become a reality during his administration.

The Ozarks Commission covers 44 counties in Arkansas, 44 in Oklahoma, nine in Kansas and 37 in Missouri.

The commission recently spent $27,500 on a feasibility study for the road that would connect Kansas City with New Orleans and would run through the western edge of Arkansas.

Harry E. Bailey of Oklahoma City, Okla., joint-manager of the consulting engineers who prepared the preliminary report of the 445-mile road, said the project is feasible.

Fox Bounty Abolished

CINCINNATI (AP) — Hamilton County, no longer considered a rural county, has abolished the $4 bounty on foxes after 100 years and all but abolished the practice where crowds are concerned.

R.A. Anderegg, county administrator, said state law did not permit county commissioners from lifting the 25-cent bounty on crows.

To get around that, the commissioners appropriated only $1 for crow bounties and will pay no more after the first four are brought in.

Lush Forage Brings Disease to Cattle

Grass tetany is a disease condition of cattle associated with the digestion of lush forage or pasture resulting in a reduced magnesium level in the blood serum. The disease is also known as "grass staggers," "wheat poisoning," and "protein poisoning."

According to Dr. David Ibsen, Extension veterinarian, several cases of grass tetany have already appeared.

Cattle pastured on lush, rank, young growth of spring pastures and on lush winter forage crops of oats, rye, or wheat, are the most susceptible. The lowering of the blood serum magnesium level is considered to be the cause of the symptoms.

Symptoms can appear within a week of exposure to young pastures but can be as long as six months in development. Cows in the late stage of pregnancy or those that have recently freshened are the primary victims. Grass tetany occurs more frequently on farms that practice a high level of fertilization and appears in herds at the time of low nutritional level.

Dr. Ibsen said signs of grass tetany include excitement, incoordination, and lack of appetite. Salivation, grinding of teeth, and muscular twitching are also noticed. Animals can resemble "rabies" and become belligerent, stagger, and finally collapse. Convulsions and tetanic seizures are seen along with labored and difficult breathing.

The condition may be offset by the feeding of magnesium oxide or the heavy fertilization of pastures with magnesium.

Supplemental mineral blocks containing 14 per cent magnesium have been used with success in offsetting grass tetany.

An alternate supplement consisting of two parts Dical, two parts magnesium oxide, and one part salt can be used during the susceptible period as an aid in preventing grass tetany.

Pastures are considered dangerous anytime lush growth appears and remain so until the grass toughens up in late spring.

Treatment consists of intravenous injections of calcium gluconate fortified by magnesium.

Rains instead of snows may fall in midsummer even at the north pole.

MRS. JENNIE CHANDLER

Mrs. Jennie Chandler, Arkansas Poultry Cooking Queen, Nashville, Ark., brought the program to the Lions weekly luncheon Monday at Town & Country.

Mrs. Chandler told the group of a trip that she made to Japan last summer along with Miss Shannon Martin, Arkansas' Poultry Princess and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ritter, in pioneers in the Arkansas Poultry Industry. Slides taken in Los Angeles, Honolulu, Hong Kong, Formosa and Japan were shown. The group spent five days in Japan touring Tokyo and attending the World's Fair in Osaka. While there they rode in Japan's famed "bullet" train at 120 miles per hour.

In addition to the fun part of the trip the group is promoting the poultry industry in parts of Asia they visited. Miss Shannon Martin, poultry princess, was unable to attend because the plane that was to bring her here developed mechanical trouble.

Haskell Jones arranged the program. Guests were Don Johnson, Lynn Montgomery, H. T. Hollis, Bill Watson, Wayne Russell, all of Hope and Tommy Morrow of Little Rock.

Bobby Webb of PCA and Warren Plyler, Farm Bureau, both of Hope, were introduced as new members.

Turnover in Faculty Is 5.4 Per Cent

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A report released by the state Commission on Coordination of Higher Educational Finance shows that Arkansas' state-supported colleges and universities had a faculty turnover rate of 5.4 per cent for the 1969-70 school year.

The report did not include figures for the University of Arkansas at Little Rock, the University of Arkansas School of Medicine at Little Rock or the Beebe branch of Arkansas State University.

The turnover rate was 4.1 per cent for 1968-69, 6.9 per cent for 1967-68 and 6.8 per cent for 1966-67.

The commission said there probably was a connection between the high turnover rates and low pay. The report did not include resignations in the rank of instructor because many instructors were graduate students who took other jobs after completing their degrees.

The turnover rate was more than 10 per cent at both Arkansas Tech at Russellville and Southern State College at Magnolia.

Jewish Trials in Russia Postponed

MOSCOW (AP) — Two more trials this week of Jews in Leningrad have been postponed for one day without explanation, Jewish sources in Moscow reported today.

Leningrad court officials, contacted by telephone, refused to confirm or deny the reports. The government refused to let foreign correspondents go to Leningrad for the trials.

The defendants are accused of complicity in the plot last June by nine other Jews to hijack a small Soviet airliner so they could escape to Israel. Two of those Jews were sentenced to death by a Soviet court on Christmas Eve and seven other Jews and two Gentiles were given labor camp sentences, but the Russian Supreme Court on Dec. 31 commuted the death sentences to camps.

Another Jewish defendant, Vulf Zaimanson, was scheduled to go on trial in Leningrad today, but local Jewish sources said the trial was postponed until Wednesday.

Brave Indian Grateful to His Doctors

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Tears stream endlessly down the jagged scar on Howard Osceola's face, but he wipes them away with a smile. Although he weeps constantly, he considers himself lucky to be alive.

"The surgeons were very good men, very good men," said the young Seminole Indian of the doctors who succeeded in patching his body but were unable to close a tear duct on his left eye.

"The one who worked on my left eye was a very great man. They did not think it could be saved," he said.

The handsome 19-year-old from the Seminole Okalee Indian Village was struck by at least two cars, and probably three, in a hitchhiking accident last September. His jaw was crushed, both his arms broken in many places, his left collar bone splintered and seven ribs shattered.

As police reconstructed the sequence of events, Osceola was first knocked down by a hit and run driver who left him lying in the road. A second car then struck the unconscious man.

The second driver went to notify the police. When they reached the scene they found Osceola in a roadside canal where he had apparently been tossed by another hit and run car.

"I will not die," Osceola told police who found him lying with only his face above water in the canal beside an empty stretch of U.S. Highway 27 west of Hollywood. "Please do not let me

Conservation Dist. Plans Essay Contest

Solomon Goodlett, chairman of the board of directors of the Hempstead County Soil and Water Conservation District, has announced the opening of Arkansas' third annual conservation essay contest.

Students in grades five through twelve are eligible to share in valuable prizes by writing an essay of 350 to 750 words on the subject "Air Pollution and You."

The top award is an $800 college scholarship for the best essay submitted by a graduating high school senior, and an additional $200 will go to the winner's teacher or counselor. First place awards for each eligible grade will be a $100 bond to the student, and a $50 bond to the teacher. Second place essays will be worth a $50 bond to the student.

Goodlett stressed the importance of following contest rules which are available through each school in the county. Essays, he said, will be judged on coverage and understanding of the subject; originality; proper use of reference material; neatness; and grammar.

After local judging, essays will be submitted through the State Board of Education to the State Conservation Education Advisory Council. State winners then will be determined by a panel of judges representing the State Board of Education, Arkansas Game and Fish Commission, Arkansas Forestry Commission and the Soil Conservation Service.

Gov. Wallace of Georgia Is Married

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Gov.-elect George C. Wallace has taken as his bride the niece of one of his predecessors in office.

The 52-year-old widower married Mrs. Cornelia Ellis Snively, an attractive 32-year-old brunette divorcee, in a quiet ceremony Monday night at the Trinity Presbyterian Church.

They are honeymooning at the Grand Hotel in Point Clear.

The Wallaces delayed the start of their honeymoon to appear at a postwedding dinner at the home of Mrs. Ruby Austin, Mrs. Wallace's mother.

They presented gold mementos of the ceremony to their children. Together they have six.

Wallace's first wife, the late Lurleen Wallace, succeeded him when his first term ran out in 1967. She died in office 18 months later after a two-year battle with cancer.

Wallace met the former Cornelia Ellis when he was a freshman state legislator and she was living in the governor's mansion during her uncle James E. "Big Jim" Folsom's first term as governor in the late 1940s.

She became a country music singer and then a professional water skier after attending Huntingdon College here and Rollins College in Winter Park, Fla.

Her first marriage to John Snively III, whose family owned a citrus products firm, ended in divorce after seven years.

Against Law School Moving to Little Rock

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Dr. David W. Mullins, president of the University of Arkansas, said Monday that contrary to some reports, he has not stated that he does or would favor moving the U of A Law School from Fayetteville to Little Rock.

"I have not made such an assertion in any prepared statement," he said.

Osceola was unconscious for a month. But after nearly four months in the hospital, he was back on his feet.

He now works as a guide for tourists to support his young wife and two small children.

"Let's Try it Again"

JODY McLAUGHLAN, who was born with open spine and water on the brain, is learning to walk at the age of six. The warm encouragement of physical therapist Lynne Gillula helps keep her determination strong. Jody, a patient at the March of Dimes Birth Defects Center at St. Louis Children's Hospital, has undergone numerous surgical procedures but her enthusiasm remains high, as do her justified hopes for the future. Birth defects strike some 250,000 children every year in our country.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

NEVER THE SOUNDS SHALL MEET

Dear Helen:

When I play rock music, which I dig, my parents turn it off. When they play old-fashioned dull stuff, I turn off, but not the stereo or they'd blow their stack.

What's the use of having records if you can't play them? Don't you think they should compromise? -- TIRED OF BEING TURNED OFF

Dear Tired:

Certainly do. But the best compromise is a record player for your room. Watch the January sales for portable stereo sets and start counting your Christmas money. -- H.

Dear Helen:

I'd like to address this to all young girls who have affairs with their boy friends. Please answer the following questions honestly, for your own sakes:

1. Are you sure there's more than just security in what you feel toward your boy friend?

2. Does he love you through your "relations," or does he love "relations" through you? Be sure now.

3. Is sex an expected thing on your dates with this guy?

4. When was the last time you went out with the girls and boyhunted?

5. Did you have fun (if they were able to talk you into it)?

6. Or did you just sit there with an "I'm going steady" look on your solemn face because you've forgotten how to flirt and be young?

7. Have you ever thought you were pregnant?

8. If so, how did your boy friend act? Or were you afraid to tell him for fear he'd leave you?

9. Have you ever thought about what your parents would do or think if you had to tell them you were pregnant?

10. Have you ever thought about what you're missing?

Helen, I hope you can print this little questionnaire because it's too late for me, but maybe I can open just one girl's eyes to the fact that for every unwanted baby, there's an unwanted mother. --ONE OF THEM, AGE 17

Dear Helen:

My mother died two years ago. My father remarried this year, but he's a salesman and seldom home. He figured my stepmother would take care of my sister and me.

When we're in bed, she throws parties and she sells dope, too, because I've heard her talking on the phone. My friends know about this. A guy even asked me the other day if I'd get him some "mes". At the parties, most everyone is stoned. We've watched when she thought we were asleep.

When Dad's home everything is all lovey-dovey. Should I tell him or would he believe me? -- DEEPLY CONCERNED AND SCARED

Dear D.C.:

Tell your father! If you don't, you're protecting the wrong person, your stepmother and ment, nor in response to questions from members of the Board of Trustees of the university," Mullins said.

He said he favored expanding and strengthening the Law School at Fayetteville.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — President Nixon seemed to enjoy questions about policy and about actions taken or contemplated more than those concerning philosophy during his televised interview Monday night.

Howard K. Smith of ABC, Eric Sevareid of CBS, John Chancellor of NBC and Nancy Dickerson of the Public Broadcasting Corporation posed questions ranging from the nation's economy and international relations to those seeking the President's own evaluations of his successes and disappointments. His answers were prompt and, most often, precise.

The format of the program—four well-prepared reporters asking questions, including some tough ones, and adequate time for answers—is probably the most satisfactory so far evolved, from the standpoint of the viewer.

Audrey Meadows, whose acid style was completely wasted Monday night in a dreary Red Skelton program, many seasons back complained wryly about the habit of television casting directors to hunt furiously for "an Audrey Meadows type" for an upcoming show but never think to approach Audrey Meadows about the part.

Some habits don't change: Sandy Dennis, one of the theater's brightest young performers, complained unhappily about the same thing recently.

"I hear about 'Sandy Dennis roles,'" she said, "but I really get very few calls from Hollywood."

Under such procedures, it appears that somebody connected with NBC's "The Name of the Game" recently scored a creative coup when Gina Lollobrigida, signed for a guest role in the episode to be broadcast next Friday night, was unable to fill the commitment.

Instead of looking around wildly for a Gina Lollobrigida type, the producer signed Geraldine Page to play the title role in "A Sister from Napoli." Miss Page, three-time Oscar nominee, two-time Emmy winner and a brilliant adornment of the Broadway stage, is by any standard a most unlikely substitute for Miss Lollobrigida.

"Actually, it turned out to be a delightful and rewarding experience," said Miss Page, still amazed and safely back home in New York. "It was all very unexpected because these days they don't use New York actors very much. Probably they don't need to because so many New York actors have moved to the coast where there is more work. Besides, it gave me a chance to play comedy—and every actress loves to play a nun."

Before the episode was completed, Miss Page was even playing a second role—the nun's sister, whose death under questionable circumstances forms the basis of the plot.

Consumer Groups Lash FDA Proposal

By G. C. THELEN Jr.

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer groups have lashed out at a Food and Drug Administration plan to rely in part on industry-supported research in drawing new regulations for disclosing nutritional values of food.

"Pure and unadulterated fraud," said Robert Choate, self-taught nutrition specialist and breakfast cereal critic. "This is a classic example of going to the fox to ask what the chickens are doing."

The fox, so to speak, is the Consumer Research Institute (CRI), Washington, D.C., which acknowledges grocery manufacturers and allied businesses provide its main financial support.

The Food and Drug Administration confirmed Monday it wants CRI to conduct free field tests to help the government determine what labeling regulation would best disclose the nutritional soundness of all processed foods.

The consumer survey could cost as much as $100,000 but would be donated to the FDA if approved by the institute's board, said Dr. Raymond C. Stokes, director of CRI.

"Our objective is policy based on fact rather than heat and emotion," Stokes said in an interview.

interview. "Our study would allow consumers to have the major voice in the government's decision."

Dr. James D. Grant, deputy FDA commissioner and prime mover in the project, said the CRI findings and recommendations would be only one of a number of consumer and industry responses to the government's alternative labeling proposals.

"I think there would be dissatisfaction even if something logical emerged from this," said Erma Angevine, executive director of the Consumer Federation of America. "People would wonder what kind of pressure was exerted when industry paid the bill."

Morris Kaplan, technical director of Consumers Union, questioned whether the FDA should accept free research from an organization whose backers will be affected directly by the results.

The White House Consumer Affairs Office is also concerned about the appearance of impropriety. Nixon administration sources said.

The FDA wants to require the industry to label processed foods—ranging from jelly and peanut butter to orange juice and noodles—with statements indicating nutritional quality.

Only the type of ingredients need now be listed, and breakfast cereals are the only major class where nutritional values are emphasized voluntarily, FDA experts said.

Pros Making Basketball Like TV Opera

By BRUCE LOWITT

Associated Press Sports Writer

Pro basketball is beginning to act like a television soap opera, with courtroom battles and hospital scenes overshadowing the action between the backboards.

There were only three games Monday night with Portland whipping Cleveland 119-106 and Milwaukee dumping Seattle 124-110 in the National Basketball Association debut of Spencer Haywood. In the American Basketball Association, Indiana beat the Floridians 111-99 in the nightcap of a scheduled double-header.

The first half of the twinbill—the New York Nets against Kentucky—was canceled when the Colonels' plane was forced to return to Louisville by the temporary closing of the airport at Indianapolis.

The hospital doors were swinging both ways and the courtroom doors seemed about to open wide as the Haywood case continued to mount.

On the medical front, New York Knicks star center Willis Reed was discharged after a four-day hospital stay—but ABA Commissioner Jack Dolph and Coach Alex Hannum of the NBA's San Diego Rockets became in-patients.

Reed was given a clean bill of health after undergoing a battery of tests, the result of abdominal pains. Physicians suggested the pains might have been the after-effects of flu which hospitalized Reed Dec. 18-21.

Dolph, who lives in Riverside, Conn., was reported resting in a hospital in nearby Greenwich after being stricken with pneumonia.

Hannum is undergoing treatment in a San Diego hospital for a respiratory infection. Player Larry Siegfried, sidelined with a knee injury since Nov. 25, was named interim coach.

And the Los Angeles Lakers announced that Jerry West, who suffered a broken nose last Saturday against San Diego, will be out of action until Thursday.

The list of NBA teams protesting Seattle's acquisition of Haywood grew to five Monday. The SuperSonics signed him after he became disenchanted with his reported $1.7 million contract with the Denver Rockets of the ABA.

A court hearing is set for Jan. 8 on a temporary injunction obtained by Seattle permitting the team to sign the 6-foot-9 former University of Detroit star, who turned pro after his sophomore year.

Jerry Colangelo, the general manager of the Phoenix Suns said a court decision permitting Seattle to keep Haywood could result in pro raids on college talent and widespread signings by players with NCAA eligibility remaining.

Green Oldest Ever on All Star Squad

NEW YORK (AP) — One dozen National Basketball Association players headed by Cincinnati's Johnny Green, the oldest man ever to make it, were added today to the two All Star squads who will meet in San Diego Jan. 12.

Six players were added to each team in balloting by the NBA coaches and join the eight players on each squad picked previously by sportswriters and broadcasters.

Green, 37, was added to the East team along with Dave DeBusschere of New York, Tom Van Arsdale of Cincinnati, Lou

Spa Trojans Rated Tops in Basketball

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Hot Springs Trojans, top-ranked in the final Associated Press high school football poll, are back on top — this time in basketball.

Hot Springs, 10-0 for the season, received seven of 11 first-place votes from a panel of sportswriters and sports broadcasters.

North Little Rock, 8-1, is ranked second, followed by Little Rock McClellan, Harrison and Fort Smith Northside. North Little Rock has lost once this year to Hot Springs and the two teams square off once again tonight at North Little Rock.

Tuckerman, 19-0, is ranked sixth, Little Rock Horace Mann seventh and Blytheville is eighth.

Little Rock Hall and Rogers round out the top 10.

Here are the results of the poll with first place votes and team records in parenthesis and total points at right:

1. Hot Springs (7) (10-0) 101
2. North Little Rock (1) (8-1) 97
3. LR McClellan (6-1) 73
4. Harrison (1) (12-1) 64
5. FS Northside (6-1) 58
6. Tuckerman (1) (19-0) 51
7. LR Horace Mann (9-0) 50
8. Blytheville (1) (12-2) 37
9. LR Hall (5-1) 26
10. Rogers (10-0) 21

Others receiving votes, listed alphabetically: Bay, Camden, Fairview, Cave City, LR Central, Stephens, Turrell and Valley Springs.

Hudson of Atlanta, Bob Kauffman of Buffalo and John Johnson of Cleveland.

Western Conference coaches added San Diego's Elvin Hayes, Seattle's Len Wilkins, Chet Walker of Chicago, Jeff Mullins of San Francisco, Dick Van Arsdale of Phoenix and Geoff Petrie of Portland.

Green, who will be playing in his fourth All Star game, was the NBA's top field goal percentage shooter last year and leads that department again this season.

Nebraska First, Hogs Rated 11th

By BEN THOMAS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Nebraska is No. 1! The unbeaten Cornhuskers are college football's top-ranked team—and mythical national champion—for the 1970 season.

Nebraska garnered a whopping 39 first-place votes in the final Associated Press poll of a nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters and easily outdistanced runner-up Notre Dame with eight firsts.

"It's probably the greatest thing ever to happen to University of Nebraska athletics," said Bob Devaney, the Cornhusker coach and owner of the best record in major college coaching ranks. "You could say the same thing goes for me as a coach."

Nebraska piled up 946 points with a first-place vote worth 20, a second 18, and so on. Notre Dame had 814.

Nebraska conquered Louisiana State 17-12 in the Orange Bowl. Notre Dame upset defending national champion Texas 24-11 in the Cotton Bowl. Texas finished the regular season in the No. 1 spot but the Cotton Bowl loss by the Longhorns dropped them to third in the final rankings.

Tennessee, the Sugar Bowl champion, ranks fourth, followed by Ohio State, Arizona State, LSU, Stanford, Michigan, Auburn, Arkansas, Toledo, Georgia Tech, Dartmouth, Southern California, Air Force, Tulane, Penn State and Houston.

with Oklahoma and Mississippi tied for 20th.

"It is the ultimate of all college football players to win their league championship, then the national championship is just some sort of dream," Devaney said.

This is the first national title for Devaney, who has won five Big Eight conference crowns and tied for a sixth championship. He coached five years at Wyoming before taking the reins at Nebraska nine years ago.

The upsets of Texas and Ohio State in the New Year's Day bowls paved the way for the Cornhuskers to vault to the top. Nebraska was third at the end of the regular campaign and it's Orange Bowl victory left the team with an 11-0-1 record.

Only blemish on the 1969 Nebraska season in a 21-21 deadlock with Southern California, which administered second-place Notre Dame, 10-1, its only loss, 38-28. The fighting Irish were No. 6 at season's end.

Stanford and Heisman Trophy winner Jim Plunkett smashed Ohio State in the Rose Bowl, handing the Buckeyes, 9-1, their first loss of the year and dropping them from second to fifth.

Olympic Group Gets Down To Straight Talk

LONDON (AP) — International Olympic Committee officials get down to some straight talking with heads of various international sports federations today in an effort to find a common definition of an amateur as far as the Olympics are concerned.

The five-man committee will meet top members of various sports federations to try to save the 1972 Winter Games in Sapporo, Japan, and the summer games in Munich, Germany, from embarrassments about the eligibility of certain stars.

The meetings in London will last today through Thursday. All will be in private.

UCLA Looking, 2 College Jobs Filled

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

UCLA is still looking for a new football coach to replace departed Tommy Prothro but two other college jobs have been filled.

Harvard and Dartmouth announced Monday the appointment of new head coaches, two days after UCLA lost Prothro to the pro Los Angeles Rams.

Harvard picked Joe Restic, who has coached the Hamilton Tiger Cats of the Canadian Football League for the last three years.

Restic replaces John Yovicsin, who retired for health reasons at the end of last season and remains at the school as director of physical training and recreation.

Dartmouth came up with Jack Crouthamel, who has been defensive backfield coach under Bob Blackman for the last five years.

Blackman resigned last month after 16 years at Dartmouth to become head man at Illinois.

Bobby Hull Is Nearing Scoring Goals

NEW YORK (AP) — Chicago's Bobby Hull, surrounded by Boston Bruins in the National Hockey League scoring race, is just a dozen goals away from surpassing the great Maurice Richard as the second-highest goal-scorer in NHL history.

The Black Hawks' left-winger slammed home four goals last week to lift his season total to 23 and his career mark to 533, 11 shy of the amount amassed by the Montreal Canadiens' star, who retired after the 1959-60 season. Detroit's Gordie Howe is still the runaway leader with 776 goals—and is still going strong.

Hull also picked up four assists last week to move into third place in the scoring parade with 51 points.

Boston's Phil Esposito is still the solid leader with 34 goals and 38 assists for 72 points but teammate Bobby Orr cut four points off Esposito's lead, lifting his season point total to 62 on the strength of 15 goals and 47 assists.

The Bruins' Johnny Bucyk moved from seventh to fourth in scoring, notching four goals and seven assists last week to lift his totals to 23 and 27 for 50 points, one more than teammate Ken Hodge, who slipped down two places to fifth.

Septagenarian Still Making Ski Jumps

FARMINGTON, Mich. (AP)—In 1917 the United States entered World War I, Woodrow Wilson was president, radio wasn't much more than a gimmick, and nobody knew of Vitamin D.

And in 1917 Henry C. Hall set a national ski jump record of 203 feet.

Three wars, nine presidents, plus countless inventions and discoveries later, Henry C. Hall is still flying through the air on his trusty, red skis.

He is 77 and his wife Olga wants him to quit. But Hall says he'll risk the perils of his home-made 150-foot ski jump at least one more season before giving it up and possibly starting a ski school.

Meanwhile, youngsters from this northwest Detroit suburb flock to his 2½-acre winter wonderland "back yard" six days a week to utilize two ski jumps, bobsled and toboggan runs, plus an ice rink. Hall charges 25 cents an hour for use of the facilities, "to help defray expenses."

"I was born on skis in the biggest snowstorm to hit Ishpeming," boasts the native of Michigan's Upper Peninsula. In 1968 Hall was elected to the United States Ski Association Hall of Fame, located at his home town.

An end-of-season accident last year nearly ended his skiing. But despite somersaulting onto his head during a jump, he only broke an ankle and bruised a knee. However, he says the knee stiffens up now and then and as a result he may not jump after this year.

Hall manages to jump more than 80 feet on occasion now, but in his heyday the former touring professional surpassed the then great 200-foot barrier several times. His 203 mark was set at Steamboat Springs, Colo. Then in 1921, after service in World War I, Hall set a world record with a leap of 229½-feet in British Columbia.

$2,000 Raises for Coaches Voted by ALC

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Legislative Council voted Monday to give $2,000 raises to the presidents and the head football coaches of the University of Arkansas and Arkansas State University.

The council recommendation to the legislature was to increase the salary of President David Mullins of the University of Arkansas from $30,000 to $32,500 and the salary of President Carl R. Reng of Arkansas State University from $25,000 to $27,000 a year.

The council action would increase the authorized salary for Coach Frank Broyles of Arkansas to $32,000 and the authorized salary of Coach Bill Davidson of Arkansas State to $20,000.

The council also voted to give $1,500 a year raises to the presidents of each state-supported college. They now make $20,000 a year. The salary of Chancellor Carey V. Stabler of the University of Arkansas at Little Rock would be increased from $15,000 to $26,500 a year under the council action.

Little Relief, if Any, In '71 Interest Rates

By CARLTON SMITH

The consumer sees money and interest rates from two opposite points of view.

There's one view if he's a saver, lending out surplus funds and seeking someone who'll pay the most favorable (highest) interest. There's another if he's a borrower, wanting the use of someone else's money, and hoping to find the most favorable (lowest) interest.

Essentially, saving and borrowing are two sides of the same coin, and the consumer's decisions about what to do with savings in 1971, or whether to borrow and where, will depend on what happens to the money supply and interest rates in the months ahead.

The nation's monetary managers have ways of manipulating the money supply, and rates of interest, to slow down or speed up economic activity. Business and industry need borrowed funds to operate in high gear. Throttle down the supply of money that circulates through the banking system, and it puts a brake on business and economic activity.

Banks themselves have to borrow, making frequent trips to "the window" to draw on Federal Reserve funds. And the Fed sets the interest charge—known as the discount rate. If it's raised, banks have to increase the rate they in turn charge their borrowers.

Healthy Living Patterns Help Control Cholesterol

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—Several weeks ago I had some tests, recommended because I am an "aspiring executive" 46 years old. My doctor said my cholesterol was all right but my "blood fat" was too high. He prescribed some medicine and said I'd have to take it the rest of my life. He said my blood fat might be just as important as my cholesterol and suggested that I write you about it. Naturally, I am interested, and I'd also like to know how to lower my blood fat without taking medicine the rest of my life.

Dear Reader—There are a number of different "blood fat" measurements. Your doctor is probably talking about "triglycerides." This is the term used for the three fat particles joined chemically to be transported in the blood. The tri-fat particle is tied to varying amounts of cholesterol. Some tests are only for cholesterol and others measure these and other fat products.

It is true that triglycerides are important. They are also more difficult to measure than cholesterol. All of these tests, including cholesterol vary on different examinations and one test alone does not tell the whole story. Under stress, the level may be up and the next day it may be down. Repeated determination are needed to really know how much trouble a person has, if any. Medical students taking a final exam have had very high cholesterol levels at exam time. There are different methods, too, which causes different values.

Now what to do about it? I don't blame you for not wanting to take medicine the rest of your life. Sometimes medicine is indicated but very often you can do as much or more for yourself with a good diet and exercise program. The goal is to eliminate, in so far as possible, any excess fat stores. Both the diet and exercise program should be gradual and persistent. Persistent means every day. I have had great success in keeping blood fats and cholesterol levels within normal limits in people who have really followed such program.

Many people are not successful in such programs because they lose five or 10 pounds of fat when they need to lose 30 or more.

I can't stress too strongly the necessity for a good preventive program for an "aspiring executive" in your age group. One-half of the people with heart attacks die before they can reach a special heart unit for treatment and many others are disabled. Clearly, the sensible program is to prevent such a disaster by proper living habits. That means no cigarettes, a proper diet and exercise program combined with other sensible living patterns.

I prefer to have people adjust their living patterns first and then see if medicine is really needed.

Lost at the Laundry

Katherine went to the neighborhood laundry to pick up her week's wash. But the proprietor greeted her with bad news.

"We had a burglary last night," he said, "and your bundles were stolen. I'm afraid you are just out of luck."

But Katherine decided that he, not she, ought to bear the loss. Filing suit for damages, she pointed out that the back door of the laundry had only the flimsiest kind of a lock, even though the building had been burglarized before. The court found the proprietor guilty of negligence, and ordered him to pay Katherine's claim.

When you leave clothing at either a laundry or a dry cleaner, you are creating what the law calls a "bailment." The company, as the bailee, must take reasonable care of your belongings. Although not to blame for an unavoidable loss, it is liable for a loss it could fairly have prevented.

Suppose the company tries to protect itself by a notice saying it is not responsible for losses of any kind. Does that make a difference?

Most courts will recognize some limitation, but not a total denial, of the company's liability. Furthermore, a notice has no legal effect unless it is properly brought to public attention.

In one case a laundry inserted into each finished bundle a small printed notice, placing a dollar limit on its liability for losses. But when a customer demanded payment for some missing items, the company was held liable in full. The judge said the dollar limit could not be part of the bailment contract, because it was not even mentioned when the clothing was first brought in.

On the other hand, the company too is entitled to "notice" of what it is accepting responsibility for. In another case, a man negligently left a ring in the pocket of a suit he sent to the cleaner. The ring vanished, and he put in a claim against the company for compensation.

But after a court hearing, his claim was turned down. The court said he could not blame the company for losing what it did not even know it had.

The silliest hand for 1970 was played by a nameless expert in the blue ribbon pairs at the Fall Nationals in Houston, Texas.

Four spades was the final contract at practically every table with South usually winding up with 11 tricks. Our nameless expert arrived at the normal contract whereupon East led the four of diamonds out of turn. South had a choice of penalties and required that the four of diamonds remain as an exposed card.

West opened the five of clubs and for some reason East decided to play the queen rather than the ace. South won with the king and saw what appeared to be a real opportunity to take advantage of the exposed card.

He led a heart to dummy's queen. East took his king and had to lead the four of diamonds. South played low.

Now available through this newspaper: "Win at Bridge with JACOBY MODERN" the new, illustrated, 128-page book by Oswald and James Jacoby. For your copy, send name, address, Zip code and $1 to: "Win at Bridge," c/o (Name Newspaper), P.O. Box 489, Dept. (first three digits local Zip code), Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

He planned to discard his jack of clubs on dummy's ace of hearts, but West ruffed that diamond lead. He led another club to his partner's ace, back came a second diamond to be ruffed and South had gone down one.

This may have constituted a record for tricks chucked. If South had started on trumps after the first trick he would have picked up the suit. East would have had to discard that four of diamonds on the third trump lead. South could then go after diamonds by leading toward dummy's king. West would show out, whereupon South would finesse against East's queen and eventually discard his jack of clubs on dummy's fifth diamond to wind up with all 13 tricks.

The first electronic highway system was created by Dr. Vladimir Zworykin at the RCA Laboratories in Princeton, N.J. The World Almanac recalls. In 1960, demonstrations were made using an automobile controlled by wire cables buried under the pavement. The cables conveyed impulses to electronic circuits in the vehicle which automatically reduced speed and prevented collisions.

DICK KLEINER

Borgnine Due Back To Television in '71

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)

Every once in awhile, when my supply of news is depleted, I make it a point to look up Ernie Borgnine. If there was ever a bubbling source of hot news, it's good old Ernie.

"I'm proud of my latest picture," Ernie said. "Which one?" "It's called 'Willard.'"

"What's it about?" "Gee, I can't tell you. The producers want to keep it a secret awhile. But it's great, really great."

O.K. We'll move on to another subject. How about the state of morality in Hollywood these days?

"Shocking," Ernie said. "I heard about somebody who was in direct violation of the morality clause in his contract."

"Oh, yeah? Who, quick, tell me, who?"

"Well, entre nous, it was _____"

(Remember, you read it here first.)

"What are you going to be doing next, Ernie?"

"I'm going into 'Bunny O'Hare,' with Bette Davis. That should be interesting. There's one line in that picture, a line Bette is supposed to say, which has everybody wondering already—will she say it?"

"What's the line, Ernie?"

"Well, just between us, it's _____"

(Don't spread that around, Mac.)

Seriously, folks, Ernie Borgnine is coming back to TV, probably in the '71-'72 season.

Universal asked him to do a show. He read the script and it was just another remake of Wagon Train. He worried about it so much he couldn't sleep until Donna, his wife, told him he should tell Universal no. So he told Universal no.

They said, O.K., if you don't want to do that one, what would you like to do? Ernie said that for a long time he has wanted to do a story about a man and a boy, a Wallace Beery-Jackie Coogan kind of thing.

Universal writers came back a few months later with a script. They're calling it "Sam Hill" and it's about a man and a boy in the old West. Right after "Bunny O'Hare," Ernie will do it as a two-hour movie-for-TV and chances are good for it to become a series next fall.

Jonathan Winters' son is going to college in England.

"He is majoring," Jonathan says, "in broads and travel."

A challenge from Judy Pace, the beautiful black actress now starring in ABC's new series, The Young Lawyers:

"Can you name seven black actresses who are in their 20s—the prime years—who were not originally singers?"

This is to make her point that there has been little progress for black actresses in films. She says that most of the black girls getting big parts are ex-singers—Diahann Carroll, Leslie Uggams, Abbey Lincoln—but not primarily actresses.

"That's not progress," Judy says, "even though there may be more than there were five years ago, when measured against the number of new Caucasian actresses that are getting jobs."

O.K., can you name seven young black actresses who are not ex-singers?

Prison Budget Close, Crises Possible

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Correction Commissioner C. Robert Sarver said Monday that a new proposed budget for the state Department of Correction was "extremely tight" and could place the department in a financial crisis if something unforeseen occurred.

Prison officials and a legislative committee worked out a proposed budget Monday for the department that is about $400,000 less than Gov.-elect Dale Bumpers has proposed for each of the next two fiscal years.

Bumpers met with the committee and Sarver Monday afternoon at the Capitol to discuss the budget proposal, but Bumpers was noncommittal on it.

The proposal calls for a general revenue allotment of $1.85 million for fiscal year 1972 and of $2.2 million for fiscal 1973, plus about $278,000 in projected net farm income in the first fiscal year and about $300,000 in fiscal 1973. The department has been allotted $1.5 million in general revenue in the current year.

Bumpers last week recommended general revenues of $2,236,000 in the 1972 fiscal year and of $2,602,791 in the 1973 fiscal year, but the Arkansas Legislative Council refused to adopt a budget for the department and named the committee to hammer out a budget proposal more near what the department now receives.

Sarver said he did not think the reduced budget would permit the department to abolish the armed trust system at the prison.

The department now has 114 employees and the committee proposal would provide the money to pay 191 in the 1972 fiscal year and 223 in the 1973 fiscal year, far below the 394 authorized positions sought by the department. The bulk of the new employees would be correctional officers.

Phone Firm Wants to Borrow Money

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Southwest Arkansas Telephone Co-operative of Texarkana asked the state Public Service Commission Monday for permission to borrow $242,000 from the Rural Electrification Administration.

The company said it needed the money to meet its accelerated demand for service in Columbia, Hempstead, Howard and Miller counties.

The firm said the funds would be used to construct new lines and build additional facilities. The loan already has received REA approval.

Double Penalty Possible for Bank Robbers

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government has put a double-barreled penalty into effect for gun-toting bank robbers: Now they can get one prison term for robbing the bank and another for carrying a gun.

In fact, any federal crime committed with a firearm now will be considered two crimes.

The new penalties are included in a $3.5-billion anticrime bill signed by President Nixon last weekend. The measure continues for three years and greatly expands the 1968 Safe Streets Act, providing law enforcement grants to state and local governments.

It also expands presidential protection and makes it a federal crime to kill, assault or kidnap a member of Congress or a congressman-elect.

"All criminals should be on notice," said Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, who cosponsored the anti-gun crime legislation with Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania.

The legislation provides that first offenders who carry a gun while committing a federal crime are subject to a mandatory one-to-10-year prison sentence.

Subsequent convictions bring two to 25 years with no chance of suspension or parole. The prison term for carrying a gun is extra and is piled on top of the sentence for committing the crime.

Don Robertson, manager of the Sherwin-Williams Paint Company of Hope, is shown presenting a $150.00 check to Paul Henley, Parks & Recreation Director. The donation was made in lieu of the Christmas gifts given annually to the painters, building contractors, and industrial plants who do business with Sherwin-Williams. The money, contributed in behalf of these customers, is to be used for the benefit of the young people of Hope through the Parks & Recreation program.

New Enemy Drive Seen in Cambodia

By SPENCER DAVIS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — State Department officials say North Vietnam may be in position by the end of January to launch a new but relatively small Tet offensive in Cambodia.

This interpretation of intelligence reports is basically the same offered by White House and Pentagon officials.

But the State Department analysts went a step further, predicting it may be necessary for South Vietnamese troops to move into Cambodia to help stem the tide. They expect the next two or three months will test fully the Cambodian army's ability to resist the North Vietnamese.

Commented one ranking official:

"We think North Vietnam is conducting an intensive effort to push supplies down to Cambodia and Vietnam, but there is nothing near to the amount required for a major offensive. Their problem is to get the supplies moved down and then come in ahead of the rains. They will have to do this no later than March or early April."

This means enemy supplies would have to be moved to concentration points this month or next.

All operations observed thus far indicate the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong are running far behind the schedule used in preparing for the Tet offensive in 1968, when 250,000 men were sent down from North Vietnam, U.S. officials noted.

In 1969, some 115,000 men were moved southward, primarily as replacements. There was no real Tet offensive in 1970.

White House officials recently estimated the infiltration rate is running 30 per cent ahead of last year, but still is far below the 1968-69 level.

U.S. authorities say the North Vietnamese are sticking to tactics that employ small units in protracted guerrilla warfare, rather than the large units of several years ago.

French Plan New Approach to Problem

PARIS (AP) — France has started the new year with a new approach to the drug problem—cure rather than punishment of drug takers and a sharp increase in penalties for manufacturers and pushers.

The new law reflects the recent increase in drug taking and pressure from the United States to do something about the heroin factories in Marseille, where raw drugs from the Middle East are processed for shipment to the United States.

Drugs, Weapons Mailing Has Dropped Sharply

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Customs Bureau says the amount of drugs, weapons and explosives illegally mailed to the United States by American soldiers overseas has dropped sharply since a government crackdown began last spring.

"We think we've got the situation to what we consider a controllable level, a bureau spokesman said.

Everything from live land mines to hand grenades to marijuana—most of it from Southeast Asia—was being mailed when Customs officials stepped in last spring. "Anything you can name they have sent in, unless it's a cannon," the spokesman said of the previous situation.

With the aid of the Pentagon, tough restrictions were put into effect and the number of seizures has dwindled considerably from the peak 418 packages intercepted last March, he said. About three-fourths of them contained illegal drugs.

From April through September, seizures averaged 184 per month. Customs officials confiscated 62 packages in October, 72 in November and 46 in the first two weeks of December.

Officials said the practice had been curbed largely through warnings by the military and new procedures requiring identification of the sender.

Although the Customs Bureau is hesitant to speculate on the reasons soldiers send weapons and explosives in the mails, a spokesman said obviously many want them for souvenirs.

Another view appeared in the annual report by the Treasury Department's efficiency office. The report said the crackdown was carried out "because the danger of these weapons being diverted to illegal use is an obvious hazard to the public."

Disadvantaged Youth Plan Is Shelved

BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (AP) — The city commission has shelved under community pressure a proposal to bring in a group of disadvantaged youths to live and attend school here.

Efforts to set up the project under a national program called "A Better Chance" (ABC) were laid aside when the commission came under fire from angry homeowners in this wealthy, virtually all-white Detroit suburb of 25,000.

Earlier, students at the high school involved in the plan, which has an enrollment of about 2,000, had called for rejection of the program, which they called "patronizing." The city now has only three black high school students.

The ABC plan, sponsored by Dartmouth College, calls for 10 bright youths from disadvantaged areas to live in a community and attend its schools for two years. In Birmingham, the youths would have lived together and attended the city's Seaholm High School.

Initial response to the plan seemed favorable, and on Dec. 16 the city commission passed a zoning amendment to allow the expected ABC students to live together in one dwelling unit.

But on Dec. 21, despite previous expressions of approval, the Seaholm High School Student Commission voted not to support ABC, which they called "tokenism."

On Dec. 23, homeowners described by Birmingham Mayor Ruth McNamee as "hostile and racist" crowded into a city commission meeting and persuaded the commissioners to rescind the zoning amendment.

The homeowners claimed the students would be "a bad influence" and bring down property values and that the zoning amendment would permit an invasion of "white hippies."

"This commission is sticking their nose where they don't have any business," said former commissioner Lance Minor. "We don't need any problems brought in from the outside."

governor next Monday. "Okie" is out.

Gov. Dewey Bartlett, the Republican whom Hall beat last November, doesn't mind being called an Okie. In fact, in 1968, he launched an OKIE Program, the acronym standing for Oklahoma, Key to Industrial Expansion.

Highway patrolmen took to wearing OKIE pins, and there were OKIE books, OKIE rings, OKIE bumper stickers and even an OKIE steak on cafe menus.

But at a reception after his victory, Hall declared: "The OKIE pins are going to quietly fade away, like old soldiers."

That gave Oklahoma Tourism Director Harry Wilson the problem of finding a new name—something like Buckeye or Hoosier.

Sooner won't do, Wilson said. "Somebody did a survey one time and the No. 1 word identified most with Oklahomans was not 'Okie,' but 'Sooner,' probably because that's the nickname for the University of Oklahoma football team," Wilson said.

But if "Okie" means low-life, "Sooner" means cheater. It was the name for those who sneaked into the "unassigned lands," now six central Oklahoma counties, in advance of the day the lands were to be opened for homesteading on April 22, 1889 under a proclamation by President Benjamin Harrison.

"Some people," said Wilson, "take exception to being called Sooners."

More People Know About Interest

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of Americans who don't know how much interest they are paying on their home mortgage loan has been cut in half since the federal truth-in-lending act went into effect, the Federal Reserve Board says.

However, it adds most Americans probably won't become fully aware of consumer credit costs "until these subjects are taught in schools."

The board, in releasing results Monday of a 1970 survey of consumer awareness, concluded only 13 per cent—compared with 27 per cent in 1969—of home-buyers surveyed reported they did not know the interest rate on their mortgages.

The board said 43 per cent of those who took out personal loans didn't know what they were paying in 1969, while 28 per cent were unsure in 1970.

It said improvements also were noted in the areas of major appliances, home improvements and automobile purchases.

Preacher Is Sentenced in Riot Case

WEST MEMPHIS, Ark. (AP) — The Rev. Ezra Greer of Earle was sentenced Monday to one year in jail and a $500 fine for inciting to riot in connection with a racial disturbance at Earle in September.

Municipal Judge Lindsey Fairley of West Memphis suspended the jail sentence and all but $100 of the fine.

The charges arose from a demonstration Sept. 10 in which 300 persons marched on the Earle City Hall. Greer, a civil rights activist, was injured in the disturbance that erupted during the march. Greer had contended that he never urged any acts of violence.

The trial had been moved from Earle to West Memphis at the request of Greer's attorney, Phillip Kaplan of Little Rock.

Rules Housing Projects Must Integrate

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The U.S. 3rd Circuit Court of Appeals has ruled that federal housing programs must work to alleviate racial segregation.

Judge John J. Gibbons, who wrote the opinion, said the Civil Rights Acts of 1964 and 1968 required federal housing agencies to study the impact of every new project on racial integration.

"Increase or maintenance of racial concentration is likely to lead to urban blight and is thus at variance with the national housing policy," he wrote in the opinion made public Monday.

He said the court was not suggesting that desegregation of housing "is the only goal of the national housing policy."

"There will be instances where a pressing case can be made for the rebuilding of a racial ghetto," he said.

"We hold only that the agency's judgment must be an informed one, which weighs the alternatives and finds that the need for physical rehabilitation or additional minority housing at the site in question clearly outweighs the disadvantage of increasing or perpetuating racial concentration."

A lawyer who argued the case for residents who fought a low income apartment project in their neighborhood said he thought the decision would be as far-reaching as the Supreme Court's order in 1954 to end school segregation.

school segregation.

"We think it is terribly important that the court has declared for the first time that the federal government has an obligation to end housing segregation," said Edwin W. Wolf of the Lawyers Committee for Civil Rights.

The appeals court reversed a U.S. District Court ruling that had permitted federal financing of a 110-unit project. It had been challenged by 15 white and black residents of the East Popular Urban Renewal Area, where the project was located.

Mill Sludge Dispute to High Court

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has been asked to settle a dispute between Vermont and New York State over a giant lump of papermill sludge that conservationists say is killing historic Lake Champlain.

Charging the heap of decaying wood chips and organic material—nearly half the bulk of the Great Pyramid of Egypt—creates a "gross public nuisance," Vermont wants the Supreme Court to force New York and the International Paper Co. to clean up the million-and-a-half cubic yard mess.

Vermont asked for permission to file a complaint directly with the Supreme Court under the Constitution's provision giving the high court jurisdiction in interstate disputes.

George Kell Named to Highway Board

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — Gov.-elect Dale Bumpers said Monday he would probably name George Kell, 48, to the state Highway Commission. This would be Bumpers' first major appointment.

Kell would replace Truman Baker of Searcy, commission chairman, whose term expires Jan. 14.

Kell, former professional baseball player and broadcaster for the Detroit Tigers, is half-owner of an automobile dealership at Newport. He was also the statewide campaign coordinator for Bumpers during the general election.

Bumpers reportedly recently met with 29 state legislators to see if they had any opposition to Kell.
